

The Telephone in Germany and France.

So far back as November, 1877 (according to a recent statement by Herr Unger), did the German postal and telegraph authorities begin the use of the telephone in small places; and there are now 1,280 such telephone offices in the country. The public was slow to adopt the telephone for local traffic in large towns. Muhlhausen was the first to act, and a few months later, in April last year, telephone traffic was begun in Berlin with eighty-seven subscribers. The number of conversations by telephone in Berlin is now increasing by about 6,000 a month. Telephone systems are now at work in Hamburg, Frankfurt, Breslau, Cologne, and Mannheim; and in Aitona, Barmen, Elberfeld, Hanover, Leipsic, Magdeburg, Stettin, Strasburg, Bremen and Dresden they are contemplated. In the first seven towns the telephone wires have reached a total length of 3,147 kilometers (say 1,966 miles). Berlin comes first with 1,554 kilometers, then come Hamburg with 911 kilometers; Breslau, with 200 kilometers; Frankfurt and Mannheim each with 163 kilometers; Muhlhausen, with 87 kilometers and Cologne with 69 kilometers. The total number of applicants in these seven towns in the end of December was 1,694, and the number increases every week. 1,413 had been put in communication; Berlin had 668 and Hamburg 623 applicants. There are three central stations in Berlin, in Franzosische, Maurer, and Oranienburger streets respectively. From data in the first three weeks in December, it appears that, on an average, 1,650 connections were made daily (on the Sunday 720, 540, and 333). From 12 to 1 is the busiest time; during that hour 150 connections on an average were made in the office in Franzosische strasse, or five every two minutes. From 3 to 8 there is a little rest, and from 5 to 7 fresh activity. The telephone chambers in the Exchange have double walls, with ashes, clay or sawdust between; the inner walls have intervening a layer of thick paste-board, then cotton-covered felt on frames, and on this the paper. These chambers answer very well and are much frequented. There are again public telephone rooms (at present two in Berlin and one in Hamburg,) into which one may enter and on payment of 50 pfennig (say 5d), have five minutes talk by telephone with any one whose home or office is in the system. Turning to France, we learn that the number of lines supplied by the Societe Generale des Telephone on the 31st of January was 1,411, instead of 626 at the end of the corresponding week in 1881; and the communications in the last week of January this year amounted to 80,534. In Lyons the number of lines has increased from 37 in January, 1881, to 285 in January, 1882; in Marseilles, from 32 to 153; in Nantes, from 14 to 70; Bordeaux has continued with 132; Havre with 100; Lille with 5.—London Times.

A Mean Traveler and His Boy.

A prominent business man of this city was going to New York on the fast Atlantic Express with his son. The gate-keeper refused to pass them through without a ticket for the boy, and the ticket-agent refused to accept any thing less than a full fare for the gentleman's son. Then he sent a very small boy to make the purchase, but the ticket-agent had been watching his movements, and again refused to make a sale of that character. The irrepressible father soon made his appearance with a boy much smaller than the one he intended to take with him, but was again refused, although he insisted that he had with him the boy who accompanied him the first time. At last fully determined to succeed in the undertaking of getting his boy on the cars without buying him a full-fare ticket, the merchant stepped up to the office and handed in fare for Farmount, the first station west of here on the Auburn Road. The agent had no right to refuse it, and, consequently, the scheming passenger passed victoriously through the gate on a ticket which was no further use to him. Instances like the above are not of rare occurrence.—Syracuse Standard.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.
KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.
Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. j27d.

BATCHELDER'S
Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.
Indispensible to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case without rehandling.
For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.
The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.
Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. case with Fillers complete.....65 Cents.
Farmer's No. 1, 18 doz. Case with Fillers complete.....55 Cents.
Cardboard Fillers for refilling 20 Cents.
15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.
Batchelder's Egg Tester, 1-sting 6 doz. at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.
The 15 dozen case made especially for Farmers use, sent to any address by express, with out nailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,

J. H. BATCHELDER,
(In ordering mention this paper.)
